STATOTHR

22 March 1962

[redacted]

Your letter of 15 March 1962 to Allen W. Dulles, former Director of Central Intelligence, has been forwarded here for reply. The National Security Act of 1947 directs that the Director of Central Intelligence shall not reveal intelligence sources or methods. We may not, therefore, answer your first question.

To answer your second question, the Central Intelligence Agency does not at any time attempt to control or watch movements, "especially to the press," of any American citizen regardless of whether such citizen has or has not been behind the Iron Curtain as a prisoner or otherwise. The internal security of the United States is not the responsibility of the CIA but is the responsibility of the Federal Bureau of Investigation under the Hon. J. Edgar Hoover.

For your information I am enclosing some data on the activities of the CIA.

Very truly yours,

Stanley J. Grogan
Assistant to the Director
